

BMW Virtual Racing Cup, your virtual way to real BMW racing

April 20, 2016

As promotor of the BMW Clubsport Trophy and the BMW M235i Racing Cup Belgium we will now start with a brandnew championship, making racing more accessible than ever: the BMW Virtual Racing Cup.

It is no longer a secret that virtual racing or sim racing is used by many professional race car driver to hone his or her driver skills and learn new tracks.

We have noticed this already with many of the newcomers in our championships and now we want to take it to the next level, being the first real life race promotor, offering a virtual BMW championship, together with our partner Dynamixx simulators. We will be using the BMW M235i Racing cars in the Assetto Corsa platform.

Just as in our other championships, the competitors in the BMW Virtual Racing Cup will race over 7 rounds on the same tracks as the real life competitors. Each round of the Virtual BMW Racing Cup has it's own qualifying and point scoring race.

The championship winner gets the opportunity to make the step from virtual racing to reality and gets an official testday offered in a BMW Clubsport Trophy racecar with all the coaching and engineering from the race team professionals.

Furthermore, the Virtual BMW Racing Cup competitors get their race action covered via the BMW Racing Cups website and facebook fanpages and will be very closely involved with the action of their real life colleagues throughout the racing season.
